Pexco manufactures Medical, Fence & Custom plastic extruded products. This is undertaken in multiple Pexco facilities, in both industrial manufacturing environments as well as segregated Medical Clean Room manufacturing environments. Medical parts are made out of virgin plastic, as too are many Fence & Custom extruded parts. These products generate startup 'scrap' material and unacceptable parts during production.

- ⇒ With customers' approval, startup material and unacceptable parts from these lines can be recycled into appropriate non-medical parts.
- ⇒ Pexco companies that grind up such parts can recycle appropriate materials into non-Medical parts.
- ⇒ Pexco companies have their own in-house EMS (Environmental Management Systems) most of which were in place before the early 1990's. All locations are certified to ISO 14001.
- ⇒ Under our EMS policy, through the use of 'regrind' or 're-pelletized' material, Pexco is able to significantly reduce the level of plastic scrap that would otherwise have found its way into land fills.
- ⇒ Pexco EMS and corporate responsibility (www.pexco.com) spell out the Pexco Group's as well as individual location's commitments to the protection of the environment.
- ⇒ Pexco and its individual locations are continually looking for ways to reduce the Carbon Footprint.
- ⇒ Electrical energy consumed in manufacturing, to convert plastic pellets, and recycled plastic material where permissible, into finished parts, is the biggest contributor to our carbon foot print.
- ⇒ Pexco is continuously working with its customers to provide quality parts produced from reprocessed plastics materials where ever possible.
- ⇒ Should you as a customer or as a potential customer wish to improve your environmental impact or meet LEED standards, please contact us through our respective web sites listed above.
